About me

○ 2015-2019

IT Academy

Between 2015 and 2019, I attended IT Step Computer Academy where I gained extensive knowledge of programming. Over the years, I have familiarized myself with many programming languages. This experience not only allowed me to learn key technical skills, but also developed my analytical thinking, teamwork and problem solving skills.

○ 2019-2022

HTML/CSS

Between 2019 and 2022, I studied web development intensively, with a particular focus on HTML and CSS. During this time, I was able to successfully design and implement several websites, allowing me to dive deep into the intricacies of layout and interface design.

○ 2022-present

Java Script/Frameworks

I am now deepening my knowledge of web development by actively learning JavaScript. This programming language is key to creating interactive and dynamic websites and applications. I'm focusing on the fundamentals of JavaScript, including syntax, asynchronous programming, and the advanced features provided by ES6 standards and beyond. This study allows me to design more complex and interactive web interfaces, enhancing the user experience on the websites and applications I develop.
